

Daily Post-Tribune 1943

Stars and Stripes Edition Saturday, March 20, 1943

Indexed by Jeffrey Brylski

A microfilm copy of the Daily Post-Tribune, Stars and Stripes Edition, March 20, 1943 is available at the Peru Public Library and the LaSalle Public Library. A paper copy is available at the Richard A. Mautino Public Library (Spring Valley, Illinois). When researching ancestors, finding information beyond city directories and census records is difficult. Newspapers are vital to adding context, providing birth, marriage, death announcements and sometimes more. In March 1943, the local La Salle newspaper published a special Stars and Stripes edition listing over 1,000 local men and women serving in the military. Thanks to Jeff Brylski's indexing of the edition, researchers have another area resource for searching circa World War Two.

Stars and Stripes Edition - March 20, 1943

From the indexer, Jeff Brylski:

The following is an alphabetical list of the names of area men and women serving in the armed forces and whose names appeared in the "Stars and Stripes" Edition of the Daily Post-Tribune, published on March 20, 1943.

The special edition was comprised of 8 sections and 120 pages. The sections are not numbered, but are designated as described below. Each section begins with page 1. The first 7 sections have 16 pages. Section 8, the Tri-City Area section has 8 pages. Most of the references listed below consist of a photograph of the service man or woman, accompanied by a short biography and current military assignment. Obvious typographic errors were corrected.

Please note that many men were drafted into the Army, but were trained to serve in the Army Air Corps, or simply, Air Corps (AC). The U. S. Air Force was not established until after WWII. The first Army Air Corps training facility was located at Jefferson Barracks, St. Louis County, Missouri. Following the attack on Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941, many army inductees were assigned to 'coast guard' artillery training units located in California. However, these were actually Army units, not U.S. Coast Guard facilities.

Finally, the publisher, editor, and journalists who worked many weeks gathering information for the Stars and Stripes edition deserve to be saluted posthumously for performing a public service 'above and beyond the call of duty'.
